CHICAGO - June 2, 2009 - Ernst Enterprises has expanded its services to offer consulting expertise in two new areas - Information Technology and Accounts Receivables Management.

Richard Kern will lead the IT division. He has more than 20 years of expertise in four key areas: operations management, IT, purchasing and business development. From serving as a temporary CTO to managing major operational projects on a part-time basis, Rich has the skill-set and applied knowledge to help businesses maximize efficiencies and achieve ROI. Call Rich today for a complimentary assessment of your IT organization.

Lisa Kiefer joins the company as a receivables/collections specialist. She possesses a wealth of knowledge and hands-on expertise in the policies and practices many businesses don't have the resources to cover. Helping businesses implement best practices for cash flow improvements is Lisa's specialty and is in high demand during tough economic times. We would be happy to provide a complimentary review of your Accounts Receivables. Contact Lisa for details.
